In this session we will paint a vibrant still life of lemons, exploring the rich variety of colours and textures found within this simple fruit arrangement. As well as focusing on the lemons themselves, we will look at reflections on their surfaces, the subtle shifts in tone from bright yellow to soft green, and the delicate details of the leaves, creating a fresh and engaging composition. Following a short demonstration, you will explore colour mixing and painting techniques to capture the form, light, and character of the lemons. This class is a wonderful opportunity to develop observational skills and build confidence in painting still life subjects while learning how to create depth, contrast, and realistic detail.
